A number of sportsmen who do not belong to the New State Gun club are inclined to believe that the club has no right to forbid any alleged trespasser hunting ducks in the sloughs at the mouth of the Jordan river, because of the tract being public domain. The tract in question is school section 18, the property of the state, while the gun club occupies the section next south and numbered 2 township 1. This latter is railroad land, and is leased to the New State Gun club. One gamer said yesterday he proposed to stand on his rights today and in the future while hunting on section 16, and would refuse to vacate the public domain on a club man's dictation.

It is not known at this time who the chairman will be, but a number of the members of the committee have expressed a preference for Parley P. Christensen, who is a young man, active and full of ideas. Others have been mentioned, but none of them seem to meet all the requirements for the place.

But Parley really does not care for the place. He is building up a good law practice and to take the chairmanship would mean that he might have to neglect his business. However, he his said he is a man who is not greater than his party, and if they should insist he might be constrained to accept.

Members of the party are becoming dissatisfied with the way matters are running. The campaign should have been opened before, and the committee finds itself without headquarters, while the Democrats are displaying great activity. This condition of affairs has caused a whole lot of grumbling. There is no place, except state headquarters, where members of the party can go where members of the party can go for consolation and the boys do not get much there.

The grievance was based on a statement in the Tribune to the effect, in a biographical sketch of the candidate, that "Mr. Peterson has always been a 16 to 1 silver man, and is today an uncompromising silver Republican." Several of Mr. Peterson's friends and countrymen in this city asserted yesterday that only last June, when he was visiting in this city, he boasted that he was the pioneer Mc-Kinley and gold standard Republican of Grand country. WITH UTAH POWER CASE

COMPANY'S ANSWER RAISES UNEXPECTED MATTER,

Which Requires Time and Due Consideration On the Part of the Learned Councilor to Combat-Will Come Up Before Committee of the Whole Next Thursday.

The city councilmen and the representatives of the Utah Power company who assembled in the council chamber last evening to participate in the hearing on the citation to show cause, if any, why the company's franchise to erect and maintain an electric pole line in the streets should not be forfeited, had disappointment for their portion. The hearing promised to be full of snap and vim, but a postponement for one week was agreed to. Much of the evidence in support of and to controvert the allegation that the power company has violated the condition requiring the company to erect poles and cross arms for the city's street lighting, is ancient history, but several hitherto unpublished statements of an interesting nature will be offered in evidence at the hearing.

Councilman Morris was called to preside over the committee of the whole, and asked for the committee's pleasure. hearing on the citation to show cause, and asked for the committee's pleasure.

A continuance of the hearing for one week was moved by Councilman Callister, who is filling the role of judge advocate. In support of his motion he stated that since the action motion he stated that since the action of the council Tuesday evening, ordering the reference of the subject to the committee of the whole he had been very busy and had not finished preparing his evidence. On Wednesday he went into the canyons with the "rainmakers" committee and not until after his return did be request the city engineer and the city attorney to have certain documentary evidence prepared.

Time had been granted to the company and only two days had passed since its answer had been filed. Some new issues had been raised in the answer, and in order to enable the city attorney and the engineer to prepare for the hearing he thought it would be but fair to grant the continuance.

Both Robertson and Howe expressed the belief that it would be discourteous to the Power company's representatives not to go on with the hearing. The former added that it ill became Callister to pose as the only councilman who is studying the interests of the city.

Fernstrom said he would oppose the Fernatrom said he would oppose the continuance if it meant fillibustering. continuance if it meant fillibustering, but if there were good cause for delay or if new evidence on behalf of the city would be forthcoming in a week he would vote for Carlister's motion.

Assistant City Attorney Stewart stated that he had not yet had time after the short notice to look over all the documentary evidence and confer with the city's witnesses. He hoped the continuance would be granted.

Attorney P. L. Williams for the Utah Power company said he had hurriedly made preparations for the hearing, but his client desired no unseemly haste and if the city were unprepared with its evidence no objection would be made to a week's delay.

Councilman Barnes thought the mistake had been made in Judge Cherry's court yesterday: Fidelity & Casualty company et al. vs. Henry B. Winsor et al.; continued to foot of calendar.

DAMAGE SUIT ON APPEAL.

ARGUED AND SUBMITTED IN THE SUPREME COURT.

Testimony Concluded In the Sevier Mining Company Case - Water Suit On Trial-Court Notes.

The supreme court listened to arguments yesterday in the case of Margaret Kennedy et al. against the Oregon Short Line Railway company.
Patrick Kennedy, plaintiff's husband, was killed in a wreck on the company's line while a passenger, and the widow asked for $30,000 damages. The jury returned a verdict for $3,685. The company then asked for a new trial, and it seems that the lower court estimated the amount as excessive and conceded that a new trial should be granted unless plaintiff should refund something over $2,000 from the amounts of the judgment obtained. This the widow agreed to do and the motion for a new trial was then overruled. David Evans of Ogden was there in behalf of the plaintiff, while Parley L.
